

Alice in Wonderland

The background of the page is a vibrant, stylized illustration. On the left, a large, craggy rock formation in shades of brown and orange dominates the scene. To the right, a pink flamingo with a long neck and a yellow eye stands on a rocky shore, looking towards the left. The water is a deep blue. In the bottom right corner, a small, dark-furred animal with large eyes is partially visible. The entire scene is framed by a thick magenta border.

This Book Belongs to:

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system or transmitted in any form by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without prior written permission of the publisher.

For information regarding permission, write to Creative Publishing, a division of Transglobal Communications Group Inc. 5550 Skylane Boulevard, Suite G, Santa Rosa, CA 95403. Attention: Permissions Department

ISBN 1-55454-144-1

Copyright © 2006 Creative Publishing
A division of Transglobal Communications Group Inc

All rights reserved.

Published by Creative Publishing,
A division of Transglobal Communications
Group Inc., Edmonton, Canada T5S 1V8.
Creative Publishing and associated logos are trademarks and/or registered trademarks of Transglobal Communications Group Inc.

A Creative Publishing Book
Conceived, designed, illustrated, and produced by Creative Publishing, a division of Transglobal Communications Group Inc.

12 11 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

Printed in China.

First printing July 2006

Alice in Wonderland

Alice was tired of sitting in the same meadow everyday, reading book after book . . . the same birds chirping in the same trees . . . the same sun high in the sky. Time itself seemed to stand still— she was so bored!

Suddenly, a little white rabbit ran past. “I’m late,” said the rabbit as he pulled a very large watch out of its pocket.

“Did you see that?” Alice asked her sister. But her sister was so interested in her book that she didn’t hear Alice.

Without a second thought, Alice got up and started to chase after the rabbit. Without any warning at all, she found herself falling down a deep hole. She fell so long, she felt like she was falling forever.

KABOOM! Alice landed in a very strange place indeed. On one side of her was a giant blue door much bigger than she was. On her other side, was a tiny red door, much smaller than she, but the perfect size for a rabbit!

On a table, Alice noticed a giant key and a bottle labeled "DRINK ME."

"I wonder what's going to happen," thought Alice, as she put the bottle to her lips and drank. Once again she felt like she was falling down, down, down. But she wasn't falling, she was shrinking! Soon, she was looking up at the table towering above her.

Now she was the perfect size to open the small red door. Alice went through.

The moment Alice stepped through the door, she bumped into the white rabbit. "Oh, excuse me," Alice said politely. The rabbit now seemed quite big.

"Can't you see I'm late?" he answered. Staring down at his very big watch, the rabbit scurried off.

Not wanting to see what other odd creatures might be in this strange place, Alice chased after him.

Within moments, Alice found the rabbit sitting happily at a large table having tea with a sleeping dormouse and a man wearing a red hat. "Thank you Mad Hatter," the rabbit said as the man poured him some tea.

"May I join you?" Alice asked.

"No!" everyone said together. This tea party was not fun at all. Alice decided to leave.

“The left side will make you tall,
the right side will make you small,”
said a voice. Alice turned and saw a caterpillar pointing at the two sides of the mushroom he was sitting on.

“I’d like to be tall again,” Alice said.

Suddenly, Alice was back to her regular size, “Perhaps now, things will be normal again,” she thought.

“Which way should I go,” Alice wondered. “Which way do you want to go?” a voice answered. Alice looked up and saw a smiling cat sitting in a tree.

“Which way should I go?” she asked. But the cat didn’t answer. He simply started to disappear until all that was left was his smile.

“This really is a strange place,”
Alice said.

“Off with his head!” a loud voice suddenly called through the garden. Alice ran in the direction of the voice. She found a queen, covered in hearts, yelling at a bunch of cards playing croquet. “Play!” the Queen ordered Alice.

Alice picked up a mallet, but it turned into a flamingo.

“Off with her head!” the Queen of hearts yelled.

An illustration of a young girl with long blonde hair tied in pigtails with blue bows. She is wearing a pink dress with a dark blue collar and sleeves. She is sitting on the ground, looking up with a surprised expression. A small brown cat is curled up next to her. The background is a soft-focus landscape with trees and flowers.

“Alice, wake up.” Alice opened her eyes and found her sister smiling down at her.

“Where am I?” Alice asked. But she could see she was back home. Same trees, same birds chirping. Could it all have been a dream?

“Did you see a rabbit?” Alice asked her sister. Just then the little cat sitting at her feet seemed to smile.

THE END

Alice in Wonderland

Aladdin
Alice in Wonderland
Beauty and the Beast
Cinderella
The Emperor's New Clothes
The Frog Prince
The Gingerbread Man
Goldilocks and the Three Bears
Hansel and Gretel
Jack and the Beanstalk
The Little Mermaid
Little Red Riding Hood

Pinocchio
Princess and the Pea
Puss in Boots
Rapunzel
Rumpelstiltskin
Sleeping Beauty
Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs
Three Billy Goats Gruff
The Three Little Pigs
The Little Tin Soldier
The Tortoise and the Hare
The Ugly Duckling

Copyright © 2006 Creative Publishing, a division of Transglobal Communications Group Inc.
Edmonton, Canada T5S 1V8

Conceived, designed, illustrated,
and produced by Creative Publishing.

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system or transmitted in any form by any means, electronic, mechanical photocopying, recording or otherwise, without prior written permission of the publisher.
All rights reserved.

US $3.95 / $4.95 CAN

ISBN 1-55454-144-1

PRINTED IN CHINA